Trauma, Psychopathology, and Violence

Causes, Consequences, or Correlates?

EDITED BY CATHY SPATZ WIDOM

Trauma, Psychopathology, and Violence critically examines correlates, consequences, and potential causal relationships involving trauma, psychopathology, and violence. The authors address methodological and theoretical challenges to understanding the interrelationships among trauma, psychopathology, and violence from the perspective of their own research fields. Chapters focus on different types of traumas, traumas occurring at different developmental stages and in different contexts, and the contributions of biological and genetic factors in understanding psychopathology and violence.

Causality and Psychopathology

Finding the Determinants of Disorders and their Cures

EDITED BY PATRICK E. SHROUT, KATHERINE M. KEYES, AND KATHERINE ORNSTEIN

Containing contributions from leading scholars of causal thinking in epidemiology and psychopathology research, this volume is based on presentations at the ground-breaking 2008 meeting of the American Psychopathological Association. The authors explore the meaning of causal statements that are made from statistical and experimental evidence; then, they suggest novel approaches to analyze these statements and thus make them more informative and medically rigorous. The collection of chapters uniquely includes both methodological contributions and detailed assessments of how causal inferences can be made when considering research results on developmental psychopathology, clinical psychopharmacology, personality disorders, post-traumatic stress disorder, and psychiatric genetics.

Mental Health in Public Health

The Next 100 Years

EDITED BY LINDA B. COTTLER

Mental Health in Public Health synthesizes important topics in public health psychiatry that were discussed at the American Psychopathological Association meeting in 2010. The book, like the APPA meeting, aims to bring advanced knowledge of the social and environmental risk factors for psychiatric disorders, as well as ideas for preventing them. Chapters are written by experts from around the world and include such public health concerns as Veteran's mental health, mental health disparities among minorities, causes of addictions, and mortality of these disorders.
